

A Gentle in Delftwood

Dana Robertson, SCA-Clarice Roan, May 2006

I'll drape myself in Delftwood blue and enter my name and device too and learn Bardic art and play my own part in the Kingdom of Aethelmarc

Poetry is my choice of arms cordials and liquors act as charms I'll learn every dance as I get the chance with Artemius arm in arm

This Barony is now my home and sometimes we cut through this gloam to play at Wildwoode or events such as good from Delftwood I shall not roam.
